World's Greatest Bridge.

The completion of the Hell Gate dently expected within the present year, will be the greatest triumph in bridge building in the world. The Hell long, and has the greatest steel arch ever constructed. It has a span of nore than a thousand feet. It is wide enough to carry four railroad tracks, which is another record-breaking feature, as no long bridge in the world row carries four tracks. Service and strength have been considered in planning this bridge. If four of the largest locometives in existence were coupled to heavily loaded trains reaching from end to end of the great bridge, it could support them with ease, in the opinion of the bridge commissioner, Gustav Lindenthal, who de-Hell Gate bridge will form the conpecting link between the railroads of New England and the rest of the country. The Pennsylvania, New York and the New Liaven and Hartford railroad companes are co-operating in its construction, which will be of such importance in the development of traffic that the cost of $25,000,000 is regarded
